

The "No Call" Act should remain as it is. Every state should have an act as tough as this one. When telemarketers were allowed to call, it was at all hours of the day or night. Many telemarketers were down-right rude! This has also helped the elderly who no longer have to try to answer the phone, only to be annoyed by telemarketers.

Since the state of NJ is seen by many other states as a joke, this act, at least, gives some credibility to NJ.
